3 COMMUNICATIONS

4 The Government's response fails to address the key issues where, as here, the 5 United States requested and directed the Irish Garda to arrest Defendant in violation of 6 the Fourth Amendment and a Court order authorizing Defendant to be at his home in 7 Dublin Ireland while obtaining medical treatment.

8 The issue is not discovery under Rule 16 or Brady v. Maryland—it is about 9 Government agents directing the Irish Garda to execute an invalid warrant violating the 10 Fourth Amendment and interfering with an order issued by this Court. The Court 11 should hold the Government as well as Defendant accountable for violations of its 12 orders. It is well within the Court's inherent authority to order any party to produce 13 documents that will show a violation of the Court's orders. Chambers v. NASCO, Inc, 14 501 U.S. 32, 43 (1991).

15 Prior to filing this motion, Defendant's counsel asked for an explanation and 16 documents to support that explanation. The Government refused to provide any 17 explanation. If the Government had nothing to hide, their refusal to provide any 18 explanation is inexplicable. But for filing of this motion seeking discovery of the 19 documents that would reveal what happened and why, the Government would have 20 simply refused to provide any information that might show the prosecutors were 21 involved in directing Mr. Cardiff's arrest.

22 The Government belatedly offered unsworn and extremely vague representations 23 to the effect that the Government did not go out and request that Defendant be arrested 24 in January. Dkt. 203-1 at 4. The Government further asserted that the January 14, 2025 25 was an amicable situation... ending up without any kind of arrest." Id. Measured 26 against this vague claim, Defendants' declaration states that he was rushed by three 27 Garda officers who blocked his exit and told he was being arrested, in custody for an 28 hour and a half and later told that he could either go to jail or surrender his passport and

1 his wife's passport. Dkt. 200-1 ¶ 5. Simply stated, Defendant was arrested and released
2 only after the Garda seized the passports.

3 Even if Defendant had not been arrested, why would the Government stonewall 4 any attempt by Defendant or this Court to confirm the accuracy of the Government's 5 statements? The only possible conclusion is that the Government prosecutors have 6 something to hide.

7 Defendant filed a motion contending that the Government deliberately or 8 indirectly violated his Fourth Amendment and violated the Court's travel order. Other 9 than argument and unsworn and vague statements, the Government has not raised any 10 valid reason or objection as to why the documents should not be produced.

11 I. Unsworn Statements Cannot Be Taken at Face Value

12 The Government's unsworn statements in opposition to discovery of the facts 13 surrounding Defendant's arrest by Irish Garda on January 14, 2025 cannot be 14 accepted at face value. The facts are undisputed:

15 (1) The Court issued an order authorizing Mr. Cardiff to be in Dublin Ireland; 16
17 (2) There was an arrest of Mr. Cardiff on January 14, 2025 which interfered 18 with the Court's order;
19
20 (3) The Government concedes that the extradition file was dated October 2023; 21 (4) A warrant for arrest was part of the extradition package;
22
23 (5) On January 13, 2025, counsel for Defendant asked the Government 24 prosecutors if they would concur in Defendant's request for an extension of 25 travel for his medical treatment;
26
27 (6) Notwithstanding the fact that the warrant had been sitting on Garda's desk 28 for thirteen months, their decision to arrest Mr. Cardiff was simply coincidence and not motivated by a request from the United States Government.

26 The notion that the Garda personnel simply woke up one day and decided to arrest 27 Defendant on January 14, 2025 defies logic and common sense. Simply stated, someone 28 from the United States Government requested execution of the warrant.

1 Furthermore, the Government's representation as to the facts of the arrest are, at 2 best, vague and ambiguous. Ms. Makarewicz advised that Mr Sebastian had recently 3 spoken to the Office on International Affairs about the warrant that was executed. Dkt.
4 203-1 at 5:17-18. In turn, Mr. Sebastian stated that the Government did not request that 5 Mr. Cardiff be arrested in January, but provided no facts to support his assertion to the 6 Court.. Id. at 5:24-25. It defies logic that Detective Sergeant Murray sat on a warrant 7 for thirteen months and just happened to decide to execute the warrant on January 14, 8 2025. Mr. Cardiff's declaration makes it clear that Detective Sergeant Murray got the 9 warrant in October 2023 and "did nothing with it until he was contacted by the U.S.
10 Embassy on January 13, 2025 asking him to execute the warrant." Dkt. 200-1 ¶ 5.

11 Mr. Sebastian's hearsay statements about the arrest does not square with logic 12 and generally states that: "My understanding is that Mr. Cardiff was not arrested in 13 Ireland, that this was an amicable situation where they went to this home, they talked 14 it over with him, and they ended up leaving without any kind of arrest." Dkt. 203-1 at 15 5:24-25. The problem is that the Government has now filed a response to this motion 16 merely parroting Mr. Sebastian's unsupported hearsay; that is, his "understanding" of 17 what happened on January 14, 2025. It is unclear when Mr. Sebastian contacted the 18 Office of International Affairs, who he talked to, whether they were provided 19 Defendant's declaration describing the circumstances of his arrest or whether they 20 talked to anyone with anything close to personal knowledge about the arrest and who 21 authorized the arrest. .

22 Defendant filed a motion contending that the Government deliberately or 23 indirectly violated his rights under the Fourth Amendment and violated the Court's 24 travel order. Neither Ms. Makarewicz nor Mr. Sebastian filed a declaration stating that 25 they neither directly or indirectly asked the Irish Government to arrest Mr. Cardiff in 26 January 2025. Mr. Sebastian's unsupported comments should not be taken at face 27 value. The Government must be ordered to produce documents and a written sworn 28 declaration regarding the Government's knowledge and/or participation of the 1 extradition file, the arrest of Mr. Cardiff and seizure of the Cardiffs' passports.

2 This is not the first time that the Government has overreached in prosecuting
3 Defendant on bail issues. Mr. Sebastian previously made representations to the Court 4 that were simply false. In seeking detention, the Government's brief asserted that: "the 5 defendant left the United States and resided in Ireland in an attempt to avoid arrest on 6 criminal charges." Dkt 13 at 9. At the November 30, 2023 bond hearing, Mr. Sebastian 7 again reiterated a theme that Mr. Cardiff left the United States and "He had no intention 8 to return." Dkt. 2015 at 4. Judge Mircheff directly asked Mr. Sebastian: "In the motion 9 , there are attempts to flee. What is that? What are you referring to? Id at 5. In 10 response, Mr. Sebastian asserted that Judge Otero took Defendant's passports and he 11 ended up getting a new Irish passport and that he lied about his income and assets.
12 After several more questions, Judge Mircheff asked:

13 THE COURT: So you started, I think, by saying he had gone to 14 Ireland and had no intention to return. Is there any reason to think 15 he knew that there were charges pending and he was avoiding that 16 process, or just simply that he was in Ireland and wasn't planning to come back, kind of dust the dirt off his shoes and not return?

17 Dkt. 205 at 6. Mr. Sebastian still did not give Judge Mercheff a straight answer, but 18 referred to Defendant's discussions with postal inspectors about the statute of 19 limitations Dkt. 201-5 at 7. There was no question that the Indictment was sealed and 20 that Mr. Cardiff was unaware of the charges. Judge Mercheff finally got Mr. Sebastian 21 to admit that Defendant was not avoiding charges by fleeing to Ireland. Id. at 8.

22 As part of the Government's Response Memorandum in Support of Defendant's 23 Motion to Forfeit Bail and for Summary Adjudication of Obligation, Defendants, 24 Government counsel wrote that: "Other than two conversations with defendant, neither 25 of the sureties have shown any further attempt to apprehend defendant or otherwise 26 persuade him to return." Dkt. 204 at 4. This assertion is blatantly false. Ms. Murphy 27 testified that she urged Defendant to return to Houston and on other occasions starting 28 in January 2025 and February 2025. Dkt. 199-1 at 4. This sort of misrepresentation

1 appears calculated to mislead the court to minimize Ms. Murphy's testimony regarding 2 forfeiture of bond.

3 Unless ordered to produce documents relating to the extradition file, the 4 Government will not be candid with the Court.¹

5 II. The Fourth Amendment Protects U.S. Citizens Overseas

6 The Government does not seriously take issue with the proposition that the 7 Fourth Amendment applies to U.S. citizens living overseas. Dkt. 203 at 8-9. Instead, 8 the Government, citing United States v. Barona, 56 F. 3d 1087, 1092 (9th Cir. 1995), 9 points out that Defendant must show that U.S. agents' participation in a foreign 10 investigation must be "so substantial that the action is a joint venture between United 11 States and foreign officials." Id. at 9. This is exactly what happened here when the 12 United States sent an Extradition request based on the bilateral treaty agreement of 13 cooperation --a joint venture.

14 In Barona, U.S. agents requested wiretaps be issued by the Danish legal 15 authorities and later provided information to Italian authorities, who then executed 16 various wiretaps on their own. Barona, 56 F.3d at 1094. The Ninth Circuit held that 17 the four Danish wiretaps were part of a joint venture between the Danish Government 18 and the United States. Barona, at 1094-1096. As to the fifth wiretap obtained through 19 Italian authorities, the Court found that the act of providing information to Italian 20

22 ¹ Counsel also notes that, in its Reply Memorandum in support of its Motion to Forfeit 23 Bail, Government counsel represented that both Mr. Kennedy and Ms. Murphy made 24 only one request for Defendant to return. In fact, Ms. Murphy's declaration made it 25 clear that she asked numerous times. Dkt. 199-1 at 17, 20. "In January (before the 26 January 19 deadline) and early February, I had discussions with Jason about his status 27 in Ireland. I told him that although he had medical problems, he was putting my home at risk and that needed to return to Houston to cure that problem. Jason told me that he wanted to return but that his doctors told him that he would suffer even greater and irreversible damage to his health if he flew before they could treat him." Dkt. 199-1 ¶ 28 20.

1 authorities that motivated them to obtain a wiretap under Italian law did not amount to 2 a “joint venture” because the operation was carried out by foreign officials without 3 substantial United States involvement. Barona at 1056. Therefore, in Barona, the 4 Fourth Amendment did not apply.

5 The Government also cites United States v. Lee, 723 F.3d 134 (2d Cir. 2013) for 6 the proposition that a collaboration between law enforcement agencies does not ipso
7 facto establish an “agency” relationship implicating the Fourth Amendment. Dkt. 203
8 at 9. In that case, the Court held that information was shared pursuant to a Memorandum 9 of Understanding did not establish a finding of “agency” between the DEA and 10 Jamaican law enforcement.

11 The Government then asserts that Defendant failed to show that United States 12 law enforcement participated in any way in his encounter with Irish law enforcement 13 let alone participated in such a way as that it was so substantial that the encounter was 14 a joint venture between the U.S. and Irish officials. Dkt. 203 at 12.

15 Unlike Lee, this case does not involve mere information sharing. The United 16 States made a request for extradition, issued an arrest warrant and asked Irish authorities 17 to act as their agents to arrest Jason Cardiff pursuant to an Extradition Treaty. But for 18 the request, the Irish Garda would have never gone to Defendant’s home and arrested 19 Defendant.

20 The evidence shows that: “Detective Sergeant Murray told me that he did not 21 know but that he got [the] file in October, 2023 and did nothing with it until he was 22 contacted by the U.S. Embassy on or around January 13, 2025 asking him to execute 23 the warrant.” Dkt. 200-1, Cardiff Declaration ¶ 5. While the Government suggests that 24 Mr. Cardiff’s sworn statement is “self-serving,” the Government’s unsworn 25 representations to this Court are no less self-serving. In that vein, Government counsel 26 confirmed part of Mr. Cardiff’s statement that the extradition treaty request was dated 27 October 23, 2023. Clearly, Detective Sergeant Murray did show Mr. Cardiff the 28 extradition file on January 14, 2025. The Government failed to tell the Court who they

1 contacted with the U.S. Embassy regarding the status of the extradition warrant. The 2 question is whether the State Department and or the Office of International Affairs was 3 directed or requested by the Department of Justice to arrest Mr. Cardiff in or around 4 January of 2025. Mr. Cardiff has the right to know if the Government was directly or 5 indirectly involved in his arrest and seizure of passports.

6 III. The Government's Mischaracterization of Mr. Cardiff as a Fugitive.

7 Government counsel have a duty of candor to the Court. “Lawyers representing 8 the Government in criminal cases serve truth and justice first. The prosecutor’s job 9 isn’t just to win, but to win fairly, staying well within the rules.” United States v.
10 Kojayan, 8 F.3d1315, 1323 (9th Cir. 1993).

11 In its response, the Government asserts that Mr. Cardiff “is currently a fugitive 12 in violation of multiple orders of this Court.” Dkt. 203 at 7 and further states that the 13 Court “declared Defendant a fugitive.... Id. at 8 (emphasis supplied). In truth and fact, 14 the Court did not make any findings that Mr. Cardiff was a “fugitive.” The Court did 15 not declare Mr. Cardiff to be a fugitive. Dkt. 196. The Court’s ruling made specific 16 findings that Mr. Cardiff was “absent” from the January 20, 2025 hearing and, as a 17 result, the Court vacated the trial date and stated that it would consider issuance of a 18 bench warrant. Specifically, the Court found that the Government’s application 19 demonstrated “facts that support vacating the trial date in this matter, and provides good 20 cause for a finding of excludable time pursuant to the Speedy Trial Act, 18 U.S.C. § 21 3161 and for the issuance of a bench warrant.”² Dkt. 196.

22 The Government has cynically taken this non-finding and is blatantly misleading 23 the Court to rule in its favor. While the Government titled its motion as a motion for

26

² The Government argued that, under the Speedy Trial Act, Defendant was a “fugitive.”
27 Dkt. 190 at 5. Yet, the Speedy Trial Act does not define or address when or whether a 28 defendant becomes a “fugitive.” The Act allows exclusions for “absence or unavailability of the defendant.” 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(3)(A).

1 declaration of fugitive status (Dkt. 190), the actual substance of the motion is devoid of 2 any analysis of the term “fugitive.”

3 It is well established that the substance of a motion, not its form, controls its 4 disposition. Andersen v. United States, 298 F.3d 804, 807 (9th Cir. 2002). Similarly,
5 in Hoffman v. Halden, 268 F.2d 280, 303-304 (9th Cir. 1959), the court held that caption 6 of an action “is only the handle to identify it” and the determination of a party’s rights 7 hinge upon the allegations in the body of the complaint [or order] and not upon his 8 inclusion in the caption.”

9 The prosecutors brought a motion for a “Declaration of Fugitive Status” but 10 failed to argue any facts or cite cases to support the motion.³ When the Court entered 11 an order that “granted” the motion without findings of fact, the Government then started 12 arguing that the Court granted “fugitive status” when it knew full well that the Court 13 entered findings that narrowly vacated the trial date, made findings under the Speedy 14 Trial Act and stated that it would consider issuance of a bench warrant.

15 IV. Prosecutorial Overreaching-The Defendant’s Perspective

16 The Government’s overreach on this Fourth Amendment violation and 17 mischaracterization of this Court’s order is consistent with Defendant’s view that the 18 Government is pursuing this case in bad faith. Defendant was civilly prosecuted and 19 lost VPL Medical to the FTC’s receivership and lost years in trying to develop smoking 20 cessation products for Redwood Scientific Technologies. In AMG Capital
21 Management v. SEC, 593 U.S. 67 (2021), the Supreme Court ruled that the statute 22 allowing monetary remedies was never intended by Congress. Thus, Redwood

24 _____
25 ³ The prosecutors withdrew the extradition warrant and knew that: (a) Mr. Cardiff was 26 in Ireland receiving medical treatment; (b) indicated his intention to return to the United 27 States after receiving further medical treatment; (c) remained in frequent contact with Pretrial Services; and (d) intends to participate fully in pretrial proceedings if allowed.
Dkt. 178.

1 Scientific Technologies, Inc (“Redwood”) was put in receivership and millions lost 2 because the FTC deliberately set out to obtain monetary remedies that were expressly 3 denied and rejected by Congress. Dkt. 153-1 ¶¶ 7-8.

4 Judge Gee recognized the good work done by Defendant in developing a surgical 5 mask company in the middle of a pandemic and specifically allowed Defendant to 6 operate Redwood so that it could market non-smoking products to distributors. Dkt.
7 Dkt. 705. The Government filed this action barely before the expiration of the statute 8 of limitations. Dkt. 1. As set out in his motion to dismiss based on double jeopardy, 9 Defendant contends that there was government misconduct through misuse of Section 10 13(b) and that the actions undertaken by the Government and its receiver in the civil 11 case lacked authority, were void ab initio and therefore punitive. Dkt. 153-1 ¶¶ 16-17.
12 Similarly, Defendant challenged the Government’s search of Redwood because postal 13 agents entered the premises, not to help the receiver keep the peace, but to conduct a 14 search of the premises and computers. Dkt. 115 at 5-6, 14-15.

15 Defendant also filed a motion based on Dubin v. United States, 599 U.S. 110 16 (1023) because the Supreme Court emphasized that identity theft focuses on the “who” 17 and not the why or how. Dkt. 106 at 6-7, 9-14. In this case, Defendant contends that 18 he did not impersonate anyone in connection with overcharges. Id. at 11. The Supreme 19 Court recognized the statute was overly broad because it allowed prosecutors to hold 20 the threat of charging an additional 2-year mandatory sentence over the head of any 21 defendant who is considering going to trial. 599 U.S. at 130-131. Similarly, in Aguilar, 22 the Supreme Court held that an FBI investigation is not a formal proceeding under the 23 witness tampering statute. Defendant contends that the Indictment was vague because 24 it failed to identify the “official proceeding” at issue and did not otherwise meet the 25 standard in Aguilar, 515 U.S. 593 (1995). Dkt. 154 at 7.

26 The Government approved the destruction of logbooks containing handwritten 27 entries by Defendant and key Government witnesses that would have contained his 28 contemporaneous instructions relating to alleged charges to customers and electronic

1 records that would have helped limit the amount of loss claimed by the Government.
2 Dkt. 79 at 18-21.

3 Defendant followed the rules on bond. His medical problems in Ireland were 4 unexpected and severe. The Court received medical records substantiating that 5 Defendant is suffering from a medical condition and extended Defendant's travel to 6 allow him to seek medical treatment in Ireland. Unfortunately, Ireland's socialized 7 medicine system does not work quickly so Defendant was unable to schedule 8 appointments and treatment with specialists as quickly as hoped. The Court ordered 9 Defendant to return over the advice of his doctors. Faced with the prospect of imminent 10 harm and long term injury to his health, Mr. Cardiff was faced with a Hobson's Choice 11 and decided that he had to follow his doctor's advice to follow a 3-4 month course of 12 treatment. See United States v Aguilar, 883 F.2d 662, 693(1989).⁴ The Government 13 waited almost five years to seek indictment of Mr. Cardiff. Yet the Government does 14 not want to wait several months to allow Mr. Cardiff to regain his health, return and 15 report to Pretrial Services. If he does not return, there is plenty of time to declare him 16 a fugitive.

17 Thus, it appears to Defendant that the Government decided to take matters into 18 their own hands and arrest Mr. Cardiff at his home in Dublin.

19 V. CONCLUSION

20 The narrow issue before the Court is discovery of documents relating to the 21 extradition file and related communications and whether the Government directly or 22 indirectly violated or interfered with this Court's order. Violation of the Order resulted 23 in the Cardiffs' Fourth Amendment rights being violated. Rather than transparency and 24

25 ⁴ Contrary to the Government's argument, the necessity defense may be raised where 26 defendant is: (1) faced with a choice of evils and chose the lesser evil; (2) that he acted 27 to prevent immediate harm; (3) that he reasonably anticipated a causal connection 28 between his conduct and the harm to be avoided; and (4) that there were no legal alternatives to violating the law. Raich v. Gonzales, 500 F.3d 850, 859 (9th Cir. 2007).

1 disclosure of what happened, the Government apparently asks the Court to accept its 2 double-or-even-triple hearsay explanations and turn a blind eye to Fourth Amendment 3 violations and violation of its travel order.

4 The Government's attempt to stonewall any discovery on this issue should be 5 rejected. Defendant asks the Court to order the Government to produce the extradition 6 file and all communications related to the January 14, 2025, arrest, as well as any 7 pending or future extradition requests.
